

NOSTALGIA IN A CHOCOLATE BOX: Ever dream of recreating all the joys of fall, but in a chocolate? Well, now you can, thanks to Adrian Harris and Jeremy Inglett, a.k.a. the Food Gays. The two made an appearance at a special event at Chez Christophe Chocolaterie Patisserie in the Heights on Sunday, Oct. 6, signing free books for the first 25 chocolate buyers and introducing a new collection of chocolate bonbons. Harris and Inglett say the inspiration for the new collection is pure nostalgia, which is why they worked with Chez Christophe to create three limited-edition chocolates that promise to have you dreaming of sipping apple cider around a campfire, before digging into a slice of mom's pumpkin pie. Above, Jacque Reagh gets her book signed and asks some questions about the chocolate flavours. PHOTO LISA KING

KidsMove Schools gets a boost from Burnaby firefighters' charity

Fortius Sport and Health and the Burnaby School District kicked off the fourth year of KidsMove Schools with a special donation from the Burnaby Firefighters Charitable Society.

Society president Jeff Clark of the Burnaby Firefighters Association - Local 323 - dropped off a cheque for $5,000 toward the KidsMove Schools youth activity and learning program.

Starting this October, approximately 450 students and 18 teachers across nine Burnaby elementary schools will have the opportunity to participate in the KidsMove 2019/2020 school year.

KidsMove Schools is a 10-week program developed by Fortius Sport and Health to help children aged nine to 12 develop physical skills, competency and confidence. The program is inclusive of children of all abilities, including students with physical or cognitive disabilities. The program is provided at no cost to the schools or students, through the generous support of donors like the Burnaby Firefighters Charitable Society, Beedie Cares and Canadian Tire Jumpstart Foundation.

Cutline Bold: Jeff Clark of the Burnaby Firefighters Association (second from the right) with a cheque for KidsMove Schools. PHOTO CONTRIBUTED

Send your Burnaby Spotlight ideas to the editor by email, editorial@burnabynow.com.

Do you know a local person or event that should be featured on this page? Send your Burnaby Spotlight ideas to the editor by email, editorial@burnabynow.com. Include 'Burnaby Spotlight' in your subject line.

Warren Babey of the Burnaby Fire Department received an exemplary service medal.

...for serving

Burnaby among a number of City of Burnaby staff who recently earned honours for 15, 20, 25 and 30 years of service to the city.

of the Burnaby Department were

ne spotlight